The story behind the !! little book...

This story is also in the book cover now...

People frequently ask why I give away so many booklets, so I decided to write an explanation. In 1956, I was in the US Army stationed in Germany. I separated from my unit so I could spend some time in Italy, with my family.

It was during this time in Italy that I traveled to see Padre Pio. I was there eleven days and it was a blessing for me every minute of it. I purchased some books at a store very close to his church. One of the books is the one I am printing now.

In 1957 I returned to the United States. I was buying this booklet by mail from San Giovanni Rotondo and giving it away to people. I could afford only a few hundred at a time for my finances were very poor. I barely had money for my return trip to America.

By 1962, my financial situation had improved. I had built a two-story building with a shop downstairs and two bedrooms upstairs. I was doing very well as a self-employed plumber with one assistant.

That same year, due to many spiritual influences in my life, I transformed my shop to a foster home for paralyzed boys forgotten by parents and friends. I named it Casa Padre Pio. By 1971, all of the residents of Casa Padre Pio were self-sufficient and had left to live on their own.

In 1992, I helped a friend to set up a newspaper press. In return for my free labor, I learned a little about printing and its machinery. By 1994 I had set up a little print shop in my own home where I can do my own printing.

Why do I do this? It is a devotion to Padre Pio, a thanksgiving to my Lord and my beautiful Heavenly Mother. Let us remember her with flowers on Mother's Day. One Rose Will Do.

May peace be with you and all your loved ones.

Vincent
